

Announcing a New Force in Commentary and Analysis on the Web

CorFun.com is pleased to announce the launch of The National Intelligence, by noted writer and former CIA agent Mignon Evans. The National Intelligence charts an independent course and brings fresh ideas into the public square from the perspective of one of the most broadly experienced political commentators on the Web today!

The National Intelligence (www.thenationalintelligence.com) by noted writer Mignon Evans, covers a broad range of topics, including legal, political, social, and international issues. Although leaning towards the conservative side, the National Intelligence presents thoughtful, intelligent, informed positions that defy easy pigeon-holing or stereotyping. On some issues, the writer makes arguments that might be labelled "leftist" or "liberal", particularly if "liberal" is defined as supportive of civil rights. More than anything else, Mignon presents a common sense approach to controversial issues.

About Mignon Evans

Mignon Evans draws from a wealth of experience. Mignon is a practicing attorney and has more than 45 years of experience in law, journalism, intelligence, and foreign affairs. A former Fulbright recipient to India, she has two degrees related to international relations and history. She is also a former CIA officer.

About CorFun

CorFun Inc. develops websites, community sites and e-Commerce sites for both profit and non-profit enterprises. Based in the Orlando, Florida area, CorFun provides a broad array of eServices for clients throughout the United States. For more information, visit CorFun's website.